WE CAN'T AFFORD TO GIVE UP NOW

The Committee is Working Hard to Sell More Lots.

EVERY DOLLAR WILL BE NEEDED

To Secure The Factories and Pay For The Land—Encouraging Prospect But Success Not Complete.

Coshocton has done well to the present in the effort to land additional factories, but the lot sale is by no means ended. The board are not out of the woods. To secure the plants every lot platted must be sold and the soliciting committee and members of the board are now working to that end.

The opera house meeting and the soliciting since that time has brought the number of lots sold to 215. That many contracts have been signed. There still remains 103 lots to be sold and it is to dispose of these that everybody is working.

The lots still in hand will decide the fate of the enterprise and will say whether Coshocton is to have the glass works and the agricultural implement factory. Every lot of the 31s must be sold to make the movement successful.

If you have been thinking of buying a lot but it now. Never was the project more in need of support. It is the history of these movements that the people become careless at the last minute, and resting under the impression that some other person will do what they intended doing permit a good thing to go by default. Coshocton cannot afford that at present, and only the people can save the day. Argument has been put forward to show that the lots are worth today what is being asked for them. They will be worth more in a short time. To buy now is to get in on the ground floor. But there will be no ground floor for anyone if all the lots are not sold. There is enough and more money and enterprse in Coshocton to take up every remaining lot in an hour if the people will only put forward their best efforts and decide to make this move of the board of trade the success it should be.

The impression became general after the meeting Thanksgiving evening that enough lots had been sold to insure the success of the enterprise. Immediately there was a falling off in sales. The people quit buying. They believed their help was not needed. But it is needed. This over-confidence arose from misapprehension and not from fact It is dangerous and must be dispelled if we are to have the factories Work must go on until every lot is sold. And to derive benefit from the plants soon the lots must be sold without delay.

MORE NAMES

Are Being Added to the List By Active Solicitors.

Coshocton's roll of honor is steadily lengthening, and Secretary Boyd expects it to grow longer if the hard work is continued.

Mrs. L. P. Burt, who has taken an active interest in the movement from the time the option on the Burt property was taken, telephoned the secretary that she wanted two lots. This makes 12 lots taken by Mr. and Mrs. Burt.

The contractors and builders who expect to do business and a great deal of it when the factories are located have taken the sale of lots seriously and put down their names in a most satisfactory manner. John L. Shaw, the contractor, and his men have subscribed for five lots, and Contractor Will Tish and his force have taken four. Among retail merchants Davis & Rogers and Walker & Cantwell are late additions to the list.

It is hoped the remaining 100 lots will be quickly taken in order that the deal may be closed at the earliest possible day.

INCREASED VALUES

Will Be the Harvest for Owners of Business Property.

The opinion is general that men who own buildings in the business section should subscribe liberally to the board of trade plan by taking lots. It is pointed out that while some owners of these properties have bought lots others are still in the list marked missing. It is pointed out that one man whose property has increased at least $5000 since Coshocton began to grow through the efforts of the board of trade has never bought a lot. Let everybody join in the movement, and push the lot sale along. It is the last pull now, and it must be a pull altogether or it will not be a complete success. The terms offered by the board are the most reasonable ever presented to the people of Coshocton. Buy a lot.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON.

Coshocton Boys Split Even And Paid All Expenses.

The high school football team closed the season with all bills paid and as many games won as had been lost. The boys made a record for clean, gentlemanly sport, and were well received by the people in Coshocton and other places where they played. They won a reputation for brilliant playing and had they possessed the weight of the teams against which they played there is every reason to believe they would have won every game. They outgeneraled Zanesville at every turn and by their superior playing won from New Concord while their games with Cambridge showed their superior training.

The season was passed through without an accident and the team was at no time accused of slugging. They are well pleased with this record, and it is probable they will show to much better advantage next year.

If this cannot be done he wants the usual course prescribed by law pursued. Judge C. B. Hunt tied the petition.

IT WAS A GOOD SHOW

New York Is Delighted With the Display of Horses.

MAYOR LOW AND HIS CABINET

Justice Jerome Will Be at the Head of the Law Department—Some Things Are Being Done.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE NO. 1250]

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—Blessed be the day and honored be the man that first founded horse shows. Our equine aristocracy have had the call all the week and the Four Hundred have been out to see them. In truth it was an elegant show. Nothing but the best was at the fore and indeed it was the best of the very best. It's a relief to a man who is proud of his race to see here scions of aristocracy, whose sires found a home where Ishmael and his mother found a resting place and buried the roots of a race who today finds resting shelter on the oasis where the date and the fig furnish food for the traveler and where is to be found today a titled aristocracy whose claims to honor are recorded in the books of David and Solomon and away beyond Solomon's and David's time, and whose pedigree, unsmirched, may be found as far back as when Moses led the Israelites out of the house of bondage and headed for the land of promise. The sires of these beautiful equine wonders may be still found in the tents of the Arab chieftains from the burning desert Sahara, where the Bedouin chief makes his home and shares the best he has with the horse that was raised with him, who wanders in and out of the tent just as the children do. No unkind hand frightened him away, no unfriendly voice to tell him that he is an intruder; nor indeed is he, for often the Bedouin's life and safety depends on the lightning speed of this matchless desert king. But I am wondering away from the matter in hand. We have the Arab steed right at our own door, many of the pedigrees reaching far back into the twilight of fable. The horse show today is one of the settled institutions of New York and comes before the public patronized and sustained by more multi-millionaires than any other institution, not excepting the opera, nor any other source of entertainment known to the Four Hundred. Are there no jockies and tooters, do you ask? Oh, yes, there are plenty of them, but they don't run the horse show today. They carry the water, inspect the dainty food; they are servants not masters, though occasionally you may find Osier Joe touching elbows with a Vanderbilt or Astor; but the tooter's presence is only tolerated when he is introduced by a little bit of firstclass equine old blue blood, which the gold of Ophir or the jewels of Golconda would hardly buy.

A story is told of Senator Stanford and Robert Bonner which shows the value set upon the quality of fine equine blood quite as well as any of the romances that have amused our fashionable public. The king of Senator Stanford's stable had given to the world two colts, Arion and Sunol. Bonner who was a lover of horses, as soon as the news reached New York, hastened to San Francisco and sought the genial senator upon his arrival. It was a joyous, friendly meeting, for each had the most profound admiration for the other. "What brings you to California," said Senator Stanford. "I came to see you," replied Robert Bonner. "Ah indeed," replied the senator, "what can I do for you?" "I have come to take Arion home with me, senator." "Oh, no, Bonner; Arion is not for sale." "Everything at its price, senator, and if I can't get Arion, I'll try to get along with Sunol." "Sunol and Arion I will keep as a team for my own private use." "Oh, come, now," said Bonner, "I'll go you halves." "No, no, they shall not be separated," said Stanford. "Come, set a price," said Bonner. "If I should," said the senator, "it would be so far beyond your reach that you never would answer such a call," said the senator jokingly. "$100,000." Bonner made a dash for his check book, but before he could fill it out Senator Stamford backed squarely down. He did not want money; he did want Arion and Sunol. Millions of dollars were at his command, but there were only two such colts to be found on this side of the deserts of Arabia.

All the boxes were taken at premiums, some of them running into the thousands. Its success was placed beyond a reasonable doubt before the horse show opened. The four hundred had a splendid representation. Gold and jewels and beauty were there and the decree has gone forth that a special dress among our four hundred is dedicated to the horse show each year. Here is an aristocracy that challenges our admiration and support. It is true that the automobile is here, unmatched in speed, but the horse is not yet dead, and will not be for a hundred generations.

Moral reform is on top. The Bowery, of which so much has been said and sung, has caught a tartar. A prosperous business man, declared over a year ago that the song ruined his business, but be that as it may, it didn't ruin Mr. Hoyt's business. It lined his pockets with dollars, ducats and roubles; it must have added to his receipts night after night, to the extent of thousands of dollars; it was whistled by bootblacks, hummed by brokers on the exchange; it was played on wheezy hand organs and nearly drove the town crazy. When our foreign friends were here to assist in our Columbus celebration the old sea dogs joined in the chorus and I've no doubt that it can be heard today in the streets of St. Petersburg, Paris and London, and instead of inspiring a joyous, a happy chorus, nothing can be heard today but weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. What is the matter, you ask, to kick up such a row? Well, that Holy terror, Sergeant Churchill, whose name sounds like the besom of destruction, has been detailed to clean the Bowery out and he is doing it. It is said that a new broom sweeps clean and if they hove got a newer broom than Sergeant Churchill I don't know his name. If this sort of thing keeps on we may have to build some new additions to our station houses, for at present they are not large enough to hold the prisoners captured. They say that Sergeant Churchill has a pull. What kind of a pull, they ask, for there are two kinds. One kind of pull, is favorable to puller, and the other is very much to the contrary. Sergeant Churchill has pulled a number of houses along the Bowery which formerly paid tribute to the police for the privilege of violating the law.

Fifteen times within the last three years has this worthy official been shifted from place to place and we hardly know what to make of it. The work that he is doing is not of the kind that is popular at the police headquarters on Mulberry street. The rich rewards fall to the lot of those who made the fewest arrests and our up country friends will understand our position the better when they learn that a notorious house, well known to the neighbors, but could not be found by the police, for undoubtedly the blood of the lamb had been sprinkled on the doorstep and above it emblazoned in crimson letters was the word, "Protection." But since Churchill has been called to the Bowery all the houses of this class have been stopped. The man who made his name respected down at Coney Island must not be forgotten when the plums are distributed. A captaincy at least should await this worthy sergeant. It is said that Colonel Murphey will fill all the vacancies which now exist before the wicked Republicans get in on the first of of January. He will take the meat and leave his Republican friends the bones.

Seth Low, the mayor-elect, has been quite busy in forming his cabinet and so far he has proceeded slowly, but evidently with judgment.

Justice Jerome, who distinguished himself with his sledge hammer and revolver, will be at the head of our law department. The place to which he was elected makes him our new mayor's confidential advisor. I pity our soiled doves who used to hold high jinks along the principal thoroughfares of the Tenderloin, where our country cousins who had come to town to see the elephant, saw that mammoth animal to their sorrow and returned to their peaceful homes away from the wicked city with a stock of yellow wisdom which they wish they didn't know. "They were wise as serpents but not as harmless as doves." Sergeant Churchill is literally obeying the command, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might." Between now and the new year, which is close at hand there will be a rattling among the dry bones in every department of the city. It is true that loot is vast but the army of applicants is many. A hundred millions is no small price and even allowing for the largest margin of honesty, the honest profits are sufficient in two years to insure the lucky holder moderate comfort for the rest of his political days. We sincerely hope that the efforts now made in behalf of honest government may be successful, and the careful and honest administration of this great public trust may make New York a model for other states and other cities, not only in our own country, but wherever civilization has a character and a name. We are the second city in the world and with an effort on behalf of good government we may become the first. The emigration of today to our blessed Republic is drawn from every country on which the sun shines. This gives us a polyglot increase with more strange tongues than was heard at the tower of Babel. Ought we to make the effort to sustain the right now that the opportunity is afforded to us? Yes. Shall we begin our work now? Yes. yes. With God's help we will.

BOARD BEING PUT IN

Connections Being Made at the Citizen's Exchange.

A MONTH MAY BE REQUIRED

To Put the New Telephones in Place and Have the System In Complete Working Order.

The board for the Citizens' telephone exchange is not only in town but it is at the company's quarters and a force of workmen are setting it up. They expect to have it done within a month.

This means that by the first of the year the Citizens' system will probably be in position to give firstclass service. The connections are being made at the board, and as it differs much from the system now in use a great deal of work must be done. The new order will provide for a telephone service equal to any. That annoying induction is expected to disappear forever when the system is inaugurated.

Manager Kissner and his force will begin without delay to put up the new telephones but the old instruments will be allowed to remain for use until the entire lot can be cut in as they style it. Almost all the telephones are here and if Manager Kissner places them in position at once it will only require a short time after the connections are made at the board to put the entire system in working order.

AN AMENDED PETITION

Has Been Filed in the Beebe Divorce Action.

Pomerene & Pomerene have filed an amended petition in the Beebe divorce action as a result of the argument of the motion, filed by Attorney Powelson in which he asked that the names of the ten alleged paramours be given. The ruling of the court on the admission of testimony was such as to exclude certain evidence, and the new petition was filed embodying in substance what was in the original petition and the answer to the cross petition. No names are added in the amended petition.

The document has been properly listed in Clerk Mizer's office at the courthouse, but publicity in the matter ends there. It is not given out for publication by Deputy Hill.

FLOCKS OF WILD GEESE

Pass Over The City Almost Every Day on Their Way South.

The weather prophets profess to see signs of a severe winter in the presence of many wild geese in this vicinity. They are on their way south and rest in the waters about the city. A number of large flocks have been seen during the past few days and local sportsmen have been after them. An unusually large flock passed over the city Thanksgiving morning and were flying low.

Warships to Be Withdrawn.

Washington, Nov. 30—With the restoration of order and open traffic on the isthmus of Panama it is expected that the navy department will be able to withdraw some of the United States warships now on duty in that quarter, and it is probable that one ship will be withdrawn on either side of the isthmus. There will be no haste, however, in reducing the naval strength, as the officials feel that the surrender of the Liberals on the isthmus may not terminate the entire struggle throughout Colombia. The country is so extensive and the signs of unrest at interior points are so numerous that it is believed there may be a recurrence of trouble on the isthmus if the insurgents at other points continue to show strength.

Over One Hundred.

Detroit, Nov. 30—In support of the statements that there were over 100 immigrants in the two coaches of one of the Wabash trains wrecked Wednesday night near Seneca, Mich., the Free Press prints this interview with Dr. L. J. Goux of Detroit: "I was in one of the four cars of that train, and when the delay occurred at Milan, by reason of the breaking down of the engine, I, with others, went out on the platform and walked to the engine to investigate the cause of the delay. McGovern to Corbett.

New York, Nov. 30—In sporting circles [illegible] was talked of more than the defeat of Terry McGovern by Young Corbett in Hartford. That McGovern was beaten by a two-[illegible] fighting [illegible] was conceded by everybody, but McGovern's friends are still of the opinion that should the boys meet again McGovern will retrieve his lost laurels. Sam Harris, McGovern's manager, posted $1,000 to bind another match, the time and place to be at the will of Young Corbett. Harris said: "In order to get a return match with Young [illegible] Terry will agree to knock him out before the limit of 20 or 25 rounds is reached, or forfeit the entire purse. I am positive that McGovern did not show his true form in this contest and I am willing to accept the proposition of James C. Kennedy of San Francisco, who has offered a purse of $[illegible] for the men to meet again in his club.

Tribute of Italians.

New York, Nov. 30—A Roman bronze tablet to the memory of the late President McKinley will be sent to Washington in a few days as a tribute from the Italian residents of the United States. President Roosevelt will be requested to give the tablet a place in the Capitol. On the tablet, in bas-relief, is a figure of President McKinley as if walking toward a tomb. In the lower right hand corner is a sharply drawn facade of the Capitol at Washington. In the lower left hand corner four infant figures represent the four sections of the United States, east, west, north and south. A gracefully draped figure in somber shade also sits by a shield with a cluster of newly plucked grain.

[illegible] is a Try.

New York, Nov. 30—Tom Sharkey has taken [illegible] Dave Sullivan, the feather[weight] [illegible] and has issued a challenge to Young Corbett, the winner of the [illegible] with McGovern at [illegible] that Sullivan is anxious [illegible] Young Corbett under [illegible] that he [illegible] McGovern. He is ready at any moment [illegible] a match at 126 pounds, the duration of the battle being limited to [illegible] rounds, and Sharkey is willing to bet $[illegible] or $[illegible] on the side.

Striking Switchmen Say They Are Confident of Winning.

HAVE THE YARDS BADLY BLOCKED

Several Plants Forced to Close Down, Being Unable to Secure Coal—Railway Officials Certain They Have the Situation Well In Hand and That Conditions Will Improve.

Pittsburg, Nov. 30.—The striking railway switchmen have not relinquished hope of winning the big battle. They claim that despite the statements made by railroad officials they are rapidly gaining ground and that before the next few days the companies will be compelled to accept their terms. A committee appointed by the strikers stated that there are still 800 members of the switchmen's union idle, and that all of these are determined to remain away from railroad yards until they return collectively.

Traffic so far has not been interrupted here in a very marked degree on any of the railroads save on the Allegheny Valley. This road is still badly crippled and as a consequence several industrial plants along the Allegheny river were compelled to temporarily suspend operations owing to their supply of coal being exhausted.

The Shoenberger plant of the American Steel and Wire company, at Twenty-fifth street, partially suspended operations owing to a lack of coal, as did the same company's plant at Twenty-sixth street. The Marshall Machine and Construction Co. at Twenty-sixth street and the Zugs Sable Iron Works at Thirteenth street, which closed down on Wednesday night, did not resume operations. None of the works of the Crucible Steel company along the Allegheny river were forced to cease work on account of the coal shortage. Superintendent C. D. Price of the Allegheny Valley railroad said that extra switching engines and crews are clearing the side tracks [illegible] trains the accumulation of loaded cars, and that [illegible] trains are being shipped just as fast as the regular freight engines can take them away.

The Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad is still blocked at different points along its [illegible] with loaded freight trains. Many of the switches are filled, but J. A. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager, claimed that notwithstanding this things are in better shape than on Thursday.

Filipino Activity.

Manila, Nov. 30.—The natives are active in Batangas province. Brigadier General Bell, with a battalion of the Fifth infantry, has left to assume command of the troops in Batangas. Recently the insurgents killed a merchant in the town of Batangas, terrorized the people living in the outskirts of the town and then had a running fight with a small detachment of the Eighth infantry.

BONINE TRIAL.

Prosecution Rests and Defense Begins. Detective's Testimony.

Washington, Nov. 30.—The government has rested its case in the trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine, charged with the killing of James Seymour Ayres, Jr. Attorney W. T. Keane made a preliminary statement in Mrs. Mrs. Bonine's behalf and witnesses for the defense were called. It is expected that about 25 of these will be heard. Mrs. Bonine's counsel say that they have not yet decided whether she shall be put upon the stand.

For the prosecution Deputy Director Glazebrook concluded his testimony, and Detective Horne told of the confession which Mrs. Bonine first made to him of her part in the tragedy. Her confession to the chief of police also was read. Dr. Glazebrook gave it as his opinion that the abrasions on Ayres' legs might have been caused by a woman kicking him with sharp heeled slippers, and said that the bruises on Mrs. Bonine's arms looked as if they might have been made by a man's thumb when he was gripping the arms.

Detective Horne testified that on the Monday following the killing, while the coroner's inquest was in progress, she had made her confession to him. She had, he said, then told him that at 2 o'clock on the morning of May 15, Ayres had knocked on her door and that when she went to the door he said he was sick and asked her to give him some medicine. He then, she said, tried to put his arm around her, and asked to be allowed to go into her room to talk over their former differences prior to his leaving the hotel, which he was to do the next day. She had declined, saying she did not want to awaken her boys, and had then consented to go to his room. When she turned the knob of the door Ayres opened it from the inside and she found him standing back of the door holding a revolver in his right hand. She then started to run away, but tripped, and Ayres caught her around the waist. She further stated that her back was to Ayres, that his right hand, in which the revolver was held, was thrown over her shoulder, and that she had caught that hand with both of hers. She did not know how the shots were fired, but she felt blood gush over her shoulder. When Ayres fell to the floor she fell under him, and slipping out had gone to her room, where she washed her hands and her wrapper and went to bed.

Made a Valuable Discovery.

Denver, Nov. 30.—Professor C. C. Wynn, whose recent announcement that he had discovered a process by which immense gold values could be secured from what is now considered low grade ore created a sensation in mining circles died at St. Joseph's hospital. His alleged discovery, although discredited by many mining men, has excited much interest, largely because Willard Teller, brother of Senator Teller, and ex-Judge Sydney D. Williams, both prominent attorneys and capitalists, became convinced of its value and entered a partnership with the discoverer for the purpose of erecting a large plant in which to treat ore by the process. While Professor Wynn's partners refuse to talk of the matter, it is understood that his death will not affect their plans materially.

Accident at a Wedding.

Kansas, Ills., Nov. 30.—Just as Reinzi White Allen, a Clinton, Ind. merchant, and Miss Winifred Rose, daughter of Judge E. G. Rose of this place, were in the middle of a marriage ceremony at the home of the bride the weight of the 200 guests present caused the parlor floor to collapse. Major Zenos Steele and the piano fell into the basement and there was a panic among the rest of the guests, but fortunately no one was seriously hurt. The wedding party adjourned to another room where the ceremony was concluded.

Another Change.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 29.—It developed that Charles E. Hayward, who was arrested at Havelock on a charge of burglary and brought to Lincoln, is in reality held for the alleged murder of John Gillian, a former member of the legislature and one of the prominent business men of Lincoln, last August.

Shot by a Farmhand.

Wytheville, Va., Nov. 30.—A telephone message has been received saying that John G. Watts, a prominent citizen of Tazewell county and former United States marshal for the western district of Virginia has been shot and killed by Robert Jones, one of his farmhands.

Remedial Agents Retained

By a scientific method devised from this knowledge, known and practiced exclusively in our laboratory, the grease is extracted from cod liver oil leaving only the remedial elements, to which is added a cordial pleasant to taste and smell, making Hagee's Cordial acceptable to the most delicate stomach.

Revitalizer Reconstructive Restorative

TELL ALL,

Will the British War Office, If Buller Doesn't Keep Quiet.

London, Nov. 30.—Seemingly fearing an alliance between the pro-Bullerites and the pro-Boers during the demonstration to be held in Hyde park in sympathy with General Buller, may be the beginning of a serious anti-government agitation. The Standard semi-officially warns General Buller that unless he checks the extravagance of his partisans the government may be compelled to make further disclosures which will cause a revulsion of feeling against the general. The Standard hints that General White at first refused to regard General Buller's heliogram as authentic, and when it was deliberately repeated General White decided to disobey it.

For South Africa?

Antwerp, Nov. 30.—The steamer Ban Righ, which arrived here Nov. 27 from London, sailed from here, and it is alleged she is destined for Colon. The consul here of the United States of Colombia declares, however, that the cargo of arms and ammunition on board the Ban Righ is not for Colombia. The Ban Righ was detained a fortnight ago by London customs officials under suspicion that she had on board arms and ammunition intended for the Boers. She was subsequently released and sailed for Antwerp. According to a dispatch from Antwerp dated Nov. 27 the Ban Righ carries a large cargo of munitions of war.

More Troops Wanted.

London, Nov. 30.—The correspondent of The Times in Pretoria, whose recent dispatches giving the numbers of the Boer commandoes are supposed to have been allowed to pass through the censorship as a warning that more British troops were wanted in South Africa, sends a sketch of the positions of the British columns, and states explicitly that more men are needed to accelerate the attrition of the Boers, and that a further partitioning of the line of blockhouses is to enable the British columns to achieve greater results.
